Outlook (2007 and beyond)

Higgins Media

No longer will there be Higgins Video Services, Higgins Media Arts, Higgins Hosting, or Higgins Web Development. The Higgins Company is pleased to announce the merger of these four divisions into one name: Higgins Media. The new name incorporates all of our media services for more efficiency.

ShareServer

ShareServer is a new service from Higgins Media that allows users to share multimedia files over the internet, whether it's from word documents to audio and video files, ShareServer makes file sharing simple and easy. Unlike other media sharing sites, ShareServer lets the original author retain all rights to their original work. All content posted on the server is password protected to ensure that only the intended audience can view it.

Higgins Productions

Higgins Productions has announced that it is now casting for a new series as well as a short film in Muncie, Indiana. Those interested may request additional information online at www.higginsproductions.com. Higgins Productions is also partnering with BSU Late Night television in order to bring the stories to the community of Muncie, Indiana. The series will also be available online.

New Marketing Campaign: Experience Something Different

How many companies offer a service division where you can get hosting, along with video services and graphic design? The Higgins Company is letting the world experience something different, pushing the limits on what today's world has to offer.
